SECOND ROLL CALL UNITES ALL SCHOOLS

President Lewis Points To Year's Progress In Speech Before
Huge Mass Meeting

PROMISES ARE FULFILLED

Meeting Ends In Snake Dance And Parade Through Business Sections

A stirring call to activities by President Lewis, a speech to prospective knockers by Henry James, a wild snake dance down G Street, through Peacock Alley and down the Avenue, and an informal call on Calvin Coolidge—that is the story of George Washington's second annual roll call held last Wednesday on the back campus.

It is a story, though, that could be much elaborated. For instance, it might be told how "Pep" Balter confirmed his right to his recently acquired title by leading the most deafening cheers that ever resounded through the old G Street buildings; we might speak of the crowds of students, new and old, that thronged the space around the little improvised platform, climbed to the roofs of the buildings, and hung perilously out of second and third story windows; we could spend much time explaining just why Walter Stokes is the world's greatest rifleman, and describing the cheers of appreciation that were accorded him by the student body; and we might tell of certain policemen who stopped lines of traffic on the Avenue and elsewhere to let a mile or so of howling humanity from George Washington University file by in a never-ending line.

One thing especially belongs to any story of the Roll Call. Introduced by Henry James as "a man who needs no introduction to a gathering of George Washington students, who all know and love him," President Lewis took the platform as the main speaker of the occasion. Activities and the necessity of their whole-hearted support among the students of the University was the theme of his short address. For the information of the freshmen present, and for the reminder of the upper classmen, he reviewed the wonderful progress of the University since the last Roll Call. He recalled his promise made at that time of a new building by this fall, his forecast of a greater and better college; and pointed out Corcoran Hall, the new gymnasium, and the increased spirit among all students as living testimonials to the success of his efforts and those of others. Then a short message to freshmen, urging them to pick their activity and go into it wholeheartedly, followed.

Gilbert Hall, president of the Alumni Association, and professor in the University, delivered a message from the alumni to the students. "Alumni are interested not only in the University, as evidenced by what we see going on around us now, but also in the students, because with the student body of the University this year the honor and reputation of the University rests, and as they do their work and support activities the honor and reputation of the college will increase or decrease." He then asked for the support of the freshmen and assured them that their University life would center in the activities they chose in their first year.

The snake dance, headed by the indefatigable "Pep" Balter, ended the most enthusiastic gathering of University people since the Roll Call on the Monument grounds last year. Down G Street into Seventeenth, and on to the White House grounds went the line. Here they halted and called in tones not to be denied for "Cal." Unfortunately the Chief Executive was unable to receive his unexpected visitors in person as he was not at home, so the snake glided on down to the Willard. Peacock Alley was honored by a visit prolonged through necessity because of the number of the visitors, and then Pennsylvania Avenue traffic was temporarily halted as the line paraded down to the Post Building and broke up.

LEGAL CLUB ELECTS.

New officers recently elected by the Women's Legal Club of the George Washington Law School are Terese V. Haley, president; Helen Newman, vice-president; Anna Goodall, secretary; F. Elizabeth Edwards, treasurer, and Mary Conner, reporter.

CHERRY TREE NOTICE

Copies of the 1924 Cherry Tree may be secured at the Treasurer's office not later than October 25th. After that date the management has arranged to dispose of them to the University Board for use in connection with the University Endowment and Advertising campaign.

Signers of the voluntary activities fee last year are entitled to their copy of the 1924 Cherry Tree upon presentation of their activities cards for last year, or a certificate from the Treasurer stating that their activity fee was paid.

Copies of the 1924 Cherry Tree may be purchased at $5 per copy until October 25th.

GIRLS' HONOR SOCIETIES HOLD ANNUAL LUNCHEON

Sphinx And Hour Glass Entertain Freshmen Girls With Full Program

The annual luncheon of the Sphinx and Hour Glass, women's honor societies, was held last Friday at 1 o'clock on the University campus. After the luncheon a series of talks were given by representatives of the various student activities in which women of the University are interested.

Anna L. Rose, dean of women, first spoke briefly of the new system of student activities which gives the students complete management of each activity with a member of the Faculty Committee as a responsible adviser. Catherine Umwake, representing the Sphinx Honor Society, gave a short history of the society, which was founded in 1912 to foster a high scholastic standing among the women.

Marian Barker, a graduate of the Class of '24, representing the Hour Glass, the other women's honor society, spoke briefly of the standards maintained by that organization. Short talks were also made by Alice Haines, a representative of girls' basketball, and Sophie Waldeman, of the girls' rifle team, in which she outlined the splendid record of girls' rifle teams during the two years rifle has been listed among the women's sports of the University.

Alice Ranck outlined the activities of women's swimming team; Daisy Robison spoke as a representative of the tennis team; Mary Florence Morscher spoke in behalf of girls' hockey, which was started in George Washington last year; and Phoebe Knappen explained the function of the Y. W. C. A. in the University. Terese V. Haley, of the Law School, spoke in behalf of the Women's Legal Club; Marion Campbell gave a short talk about dramatics in George Washington; and Frances Randolph spoke as a representative of The Hatchet. Alice Williams, representing the Freshmen, voiced the ambition of the new girls to join in furtherance of women's activities.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB HOLD FIRST PRACTICE

The Women's Glee Club held the first practice of the season in Corcoran Hall yesterday afternoon at 12:45. The services of Miss Estelle Wentworth has been secured as director of the club.

According to an announcement made by Edith Finney, president of the Glee Club, regular rehearsals will be held every Monday at 12:45 p. m. Efforts are also being made to hold practice in the evening for those students unable to attend the noon rehearsals.

The girls want to make this a real major activity, and anyone interested in the Glee Club work is urged to attend practice or get in touch with Miss Finney.

SENIOR TEACHERS ELECT

Mary Bixler, Chairman of the Endowment Committee in Teachers' College last year, was elected president of the Senior Teachers at a meeting held Monday evening, October 13th. Other officers chosen for the class were Ruth Bock, vice-president; Isabel Brown, secretary; Catherine Lantel, treasurer, and LuVerne Crabtree, sergeant-at-arms.

Notice of the class meeting had been posted several days in advance and a representation was present.

LAW SCHOOL JUNIORS TO ELECT OFFICERS

Three Nominated For President;
Hot Contest Being Waged
For All Offices

HOLDING ELECTION TODAY

No Competition For Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms, Others Seem Close.

With campaigning rife in the Junior Class of the Law School, it is a matter of speculation as to just who will be elected to the various class offices. The election, which is being held today, may prove surprising in more than one instance, but however that may be, all the political factions are working at top speed corraling votes.

At a meeting held after class Friday night, at which time there was a goodly number of members of the Junior Class, candidates were proposed for the various class offices. The names of Ernest L. Wilkinson, an "A" student last year, with the highest average in the Freshman Class; Sterry Waterman, treasurer of last year's class, and Douglas Beattie, vice-president of last year's class, were proposed for the office of president. For vice-president, Mildred Thrasher and Tom Mount were nominated. The office of treasurer is vied for by Francis Brown and Daniel I. Mayne, while the offices of secretary and sergeant-at-arms are uncontested, Miss Woodward being the nominee for secretary, and Thomas F. Stewart for sergeant-at-arms. This will make Mr. Stewart's second consecutive term as sergeant-at-arms, and he is indeed deserving of it, for he filled the position last year in a most efficient manner.

It is encouraging to note that at least one class in the Law School takes an interest in the way its elections turn out, and in the officers it elects. This cannot be said of either the Senior Class or the Freshman Class, for in both of these elections a discouragingly small number of students voted.

The Junior Class is the most enthusiastic class in the Law School. It possesses more class spirit and "pep" than either of the other two classes, and it is deserving of a hard-working and earnest corps of officers. The present nominees all appear to "fill the bill" and it will be a matter of interest to see which ones win in the election.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERS AUTHORIZE BRANCH HERE

Students Meet Tonight to Elect Officers for G. W. Chapter of Society

Through the efforts of Professor Johnson, of the Engineering School, a student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers has been formed at George Washington. The first regular meeting of the branch will be held this evening in room 23, building No. 4, at 7 o'clock, to elect officers.

All students of mechanical engineering are eligible. Membership in a student branch carries with it all the privileges of the society. "Mechanical Engineering," a monthly publication, containing notes, lectures, papers, comment submitted by the various sections of the country, and "Transactions," a review of the world's technical press, are offered by the society. Condensed catalogues of mechanical equipment are also sent out.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers was founded in 1880, "to promote the arts and sciences connected with engineering and mechanical construction." Branches have been established in the principal cities of the country. The local chapter is known as the Washington Society of Engineers and was organized in 1919.

ADD NEW COURSE

Dr. Houghton is giving a course in Preventive Medicine on Thursday evenings at the Medical School, 1335 H Street Northwest, from 7 to 10, and a course in Public Hygiene on Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 10:30. Students interested in these courses should apply at the secretary's office in the Medical School.

COLUMBIAN SENIORS ELECT CLASS OFFICERS

The election of class officers by the Seniors of Columbian College last Wednesday evening is a perfect demonstration of what can be accomplished since the passage of the nineteenth amendment. Working in perfect harmony, the Pan Hellenic organization shifted its meeting place to Corcoran Hall, and there elected a complete ticket of women to fill the offices of the Senior Class.

Marguerite Daly, manager of girls' basketball, was chosen the leader of the class. Katherine Wright, also active in student activities, was elected vice-president. Frances Davis won the prize in the contest for secretary, and Gretchen Campbell was chosen as the favorite for the office of treasurer. To complete the ticket Betty Bradford was then elected sergeant-at-arms.

INTERFRATERNITY SMOKER SCHEDULED FOR NOV. 21

Baseball Championship Between Kappa Sigs and S. P. E. to be Played Sunday.

Delegates from the various fraternities met at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house on Sunday, October 19th, for the second Interfraternity Association meeting of the school year.

A baseball game between the Sigma Phi Epsilon and the Kappa Sigma fraternities, to be played Sunday, October 26th, at 11 o'clock on the Monument grounds, was announced. This game determines the winner of the cup for Interfraternity baseball from last year.

All of the ball games could not be played last year because of intervening circumstances. The member-chapters of the Interfraternity Association were divided into two leagues. Kappa Sigma and Sigma Phi Epsilon were victors in their respective leagues, leaving the championship between them.

The cup awarded for this championship will be presented at the annual Interfraternity Smoker to be given Friday, November 21st.

Plans for this gala Greek affair, which probably will be held in the new University gymnasium, were also discussed. Full plans will be announced later. At the Interfraternity Smoker a cup will also be presented to the fraternity having the highest scholastic average last year.

At the next meeting of the Association, which will be held Sunday, November 2d, at the Delta Tau Delta house, the adoption of a new constitution will be considered.

HURREY, AT ASSEMBLY, SUGGESTS STUDENT CLUBS

More sympathy and fellowship between American students and those of alien birth, who have come here to attend our colleges, was urged by Charles D. Hurrey of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A., in discussing "High Spots in Student Life Around the World" at the assembly Wednesday.

Mr. Hurrey suggested the formation of international student clubs as a means of attaining this end. In this way, he pointed out, students of different nationalities could come together on common ground and present their views frankly to each other.

Mr. Hurrey, who has had wide experience with college students in every land, sees a gradual breaking down of national and denominational barriers as a result of the interchange of students among the institutions of higher education of the various countries.

PUBLICATIONS COUNCIL HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The Publications Council met for the first time last Monday evening to discuss matters pertaining to publications in the University. The Council, composed of Professor H. G. Doyle, member of the Faculty Committee who is chairman of the Publications Council; Dean Anna L. Rose, Professor E. W. Bolwell, D. C. Chace and H. P. Bross, instructors in Journalism, the editor and business manager of the Cherry Tree and editor and business manager of the Hatchet, discussed matters of circulation, finance and publicity. A budget for the Hatchet was also recommended to be submitted to the Faculty Committee for consideration.

HATCHETITES DEFEAT STRONG DREXEL TEAM

Score Two Touchdowns To Win
From Crimson Warriors
By 13 To 0 Score

WAGNER FIRST TO SCORE

Platt, Drexel Player, Suffers Broken Leg—Loehler Injured During Last Quarter

George Washington University football team defeated the Crimson warriors of Drexel Institute last Saturday in a very exciting game at Strawberry and Clothier Field, Philadelphia, by a score of 13 to 0.

The first blood was drawn by George Washington in the middle of the second quarter when Dean Wagner, running back a punt from Maher of the Drexel team, went 45 yards around the right side of the field and through the entire enemy team for the first touchdown. It was as brilliant exhibition of broken-field running as has been made by any member of the Hatchetite squad this year. Good work by the Engineers' line in breaking through the District lads' defense resulted in the blocking of Lamar's drop kick for the extra point.

The Crimson players were not behind their quota of long runs for Maher, at the end of the second quarter interceded a pass on his 35-yard line and ran about 40 yards before being stopped by Wagner. Again in the second half Wolfe, the former Northeastern tackle substitute for Maher, picked up a fumble on his 5-yard line and ran 35 yards before Long tackled him so hard that he dropped the ball and Wagner recovered for the Hatchetites. Following this George Washington started a drive that went to the Drexel 10-yard line, where they were held for downs by the fighting Engineers, Long and Loehler having plunged the ball to this point.

Maher punted out of bounds on his 35-yard line, and on the next play Lamar uncorked a beautiful surprise pass for 30 yards to Malone, who was downed on the 5-yard line. Long made three yards through right guard and Lamar bucked the ball over from the 2-yard line on the next play through center. Lamar had his eye and kicking foot working in coordination this time and made a perfect dropkick for the extra point. This ended the scoring for the day.

The victory was one of mixed blessing.

WOMEN'S FRATERNITIES BID UNDER NEW RULES

Rules for the guidance of women's fraternities of the University during the rushing season have been changed and Wednesday, November 26, designated as big day, instead of February 22 as in the past, according to an announcement made by Anna L. Rose, dean of women, to the Pan-Hellenic Association.

The usual period of noncommunication between fraternity girls and non-fraternity girls prior to the bidding will extend from 10 o'clock Sunday morning, November 23, till 4 o'clock Tuesday, November 25. Also the preferential system of bidding will obtain.

According to present plans three formal parties will be given by each women's fraternity, and there will be no conflict of dates.

FREE LANCE CLUB ELECTS

At the last meeting of the Free Lance Club, E. B. Mowilton was elected president of the club for the coming year; Alex Cassanges was elected vice-president; Helen Hastings, secretary, and Roberta Chapman, treasurer. Meetings of the Free Lance Club are held regularly on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month. Prominent speakers are secured to give lectures on subjects of interest and all students interested are invited to attend the meetings. At the next meeting, which will be held Thursday evening, a speaker has been secured who will talk on the policies and candidacy of Senator La Follette, independent candidate for President of the United States.

HISTORY CLUB TO MEET.

The Charles E. Swisher Historical Club will meet this evening at 8:15 in room 12, building 5. Dr. Swisher will give an illustrated lecture describing his recent European tour.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

The President's speech at the second annual Roll Call indicates in only a general way the great development in student activities in George Washington University during the past year. The activities fee mentioned by President Lewis is the basis of all this development. As a result of the assessment of a general activities fee the funds made available for student activities is nearly three times greater.

With this added financial support activities may be expanded indefinitely. The University Hatchet, which was formerly distributed only to signers of the voluntary activities fee, is given to every student in the University. This will enable students to keep in closer contact with University affairs and will make possible a closer union of student interests.

The football squad has been provided with additional equipment and better facilities have been provided with the erection of the new gymnasium. Women's field hockey was organized in the University, and this fall a women's director in physical education has been added to the staff. She will not only coach girls' athletic activities but will conduct classes in dancing and floor work for those who wish to avail themselves of the facilities of the new gymnasium.

The George Washington rifle teams, both men and women, for several years held an enviable position among the colleges of the country. Like all other activities, however, they have been handicapped by lack of funds and proper facilities for practice. This year a new rifle range is being equipped in the basement of Corcoran Hall, and with the additional aid from the activities fund they should be able to retain their championship laurels.

The only baseball team George Washington has had for the past few years has been the team organized and financed by the students of the Engineering College. This year the Faculty Committee on Student Activities has authorized the organization of baseball as a major sport of the University. Proper equipment and facilities will be made available to make baseball a success.

Since the opening of the present school year, a men's swimming team has also been organized in the University. Championship swimmers and stars from university and high school squads have already started practice, and prospects for the future are most encouraging.

No year in the history of the University has been more prosperous, and surely every promise President Lewis made last year when he assumed the leadership of George Washington has been fulfilled. With the success of the endowment campaign started last year his greatest promise will be realized: "We shall some day have one of the greatest University plants in the country."

SCHOOL SPIRIT.

Were you at the roll call last Wednesday? Did you participate in the cheering on the Campus? Did you take part in the snake dance? These are the questions which every student of George Washington University has had to answer.

More than one thousand students of George Washington University filed into line after the roll call Wednesday evening. They took the White House, New Willard Hotel, Washington Hotel, Childs, and several other places by "storm." All the secret service agents and all the Capital police force could not keep them down. They were determined to show the Capital that there was a George Washington University, made up of red-blooded Americans. And that they did. Mr. Cop at 14th street and Pennsylvania Avenue tried to induce the motorist to run through their ranks. Did he succeed? Well, ask him. They were full of the spirit of "Ye Good Old School Days," which had a few minutes before been awakened by President Lewis in his address to the students. This spirit has long been asleep in the students of George Washington University, but under the leadership of their president and the hearty co-operation of the faculty and students, it has been called forth from that long slumber, and has gripped every student of this great university. It is here to stay, so the Freshmen say, and on them the future stands or falls.

PATRIOTISM

One thing brought out at the Roll Call last week is the fact that a few students have not yet learned that "The Star-Spangled Banner" is the national anthem. Pupils in the grade schools are taught to stand uncovered and to refrain from talking while "The Star-Spangled Banner" is being sung. Then to see University students standing in groups, engaged in careless conversation, and apparently unconscious that an Army band is playing that old patriotic song was a shock to many.

To those who have served their country in time of war "The Star-Spangled Banner" is almost sacred. To every true American it should be a source of patriotic inspiration. To those who do not feel that way it is a duty to refrain from showing open disrespect to the flag.

AVE RABBIT HOLE!

The old Rabbit Hole, a place for which George Washington students have long had a sentimental attachment, has become University history, and in its place is a new University cafeteria under direct University management and operated with the idea of serving the student body. Besides serving regular meals until eight o'clock every evening, the new cafeteria has been equipped to cater for University functions and student parties and social gatherings.

The operation of a university cafeteria is only one more step in the development of the University. It is now the desire of the authorities to center in the University all interests which will draw the students closer together and give them a common interest in their school. In time it is hoped that a University book store may be established to be operated for the benefit of the students or for some branch of student activities. A University social center is another part of the program of expansion and will eventually become a reality.

To insure success to any enterprise undertaken by the University in behalf of the student body it is necessary for the students themselves to cooperate in every way possible. It is only through cooperation that we may hope to attain ultimate success.

ON TO BALTIMORE!

One more suggestion in support of the football team! On November 1 the Hatchettes meet the powerful Johns Hopkins eleven at Baltimore. This is the best opportunity this season for the students of George Washington to attend a game at some other school in a body.

A trip to Baltimore with the team to see the Johns Hopkins game would have many benefits. The result on the playing ability of the team would be inestimable; it would be a wonderful advertising feature for the University; and it would offer a means for the students to meet under conditions which would mean much toward furthering united school spirit.

It is a great encouragement to a team playing away from home to have a strong and enthusiastic body of supporters. Our team has been playing wonderful football this season, but in Johns Hopkins they will meet a rival with an equally worthy record. Every bit of support will bring victory that much nearer.

If George Washington could once send a large number of students to support the team in games out of town it would leave a lasting impression upon those who think of George Washington only as a knowledge shop without real school spirit. Other universities have attracted students and outside supporters through such advertising; and a strong school spirit is the inevitable result in universities where the student body can meet with a common interest.

FACULTY ADD BASEBALL AS MAJOR SCHOOL SPORT

Keen Interest in Baseball Prompts Action; Klein Appointed Manager.

Because of interest kept awake in the student body by a small group of enthusiasts, baseball is again being installed as a major sport in George Washington. Over 200 students registering in the University this fall have indicated an interest in baseball, and at a recent meeting of the Faculty Committee action was definitely taken to organize baseball as a major activity.

The Faculty Committee on Student Activities has appointed Ernest H. Klein as acting manager of baseball and Professor Arthur Johnson as faculty adviser. Manager Klein is urging all students interested in baseball to report to him as soon as possible. He is especially interested in securing pitchers and catchers because practice for the batteries will start immediately upon completion of the new gymnasium.

Present plans call for a series of lectures through the winter by big league players. The schedule of games is being discussed and arrangements have been made to secure the necessary equipment.

For the past five years students in the College of Engineering have organized and financed a baseball team. Klein, manager of baseball, was formerly manager of the Engineers' team.

ing for George Washington and un-nixed trouble for the Drexel boys, for in the last quarter Loehler was injured in a pile up. The injury as reported by the local papers was very serious, but later information given out by Manager Stewart disproves that and puts renewed hope in the hearts of G. W. supporters. It was at first reported that he had several ribs broken and torn loose, but it was later learned that only a muscle was torn loose from the chest. Stewart also said that Loehler would be in the line-up Saturday against St. Joseph's, unless some further injury is encountered in practice this week. Platt, after playing a bang-up game at center for Drexel, had his leg broken in the first period. The break was just above the ankle and he will be out for some time.

Drexel lost an excellent opportunity to score in the third period when Snyder recovered a fumble on his 10-yard line which Loehler had allowed to slip from him and had cleared the Hatchetite team when he stumbled. It seemed to the spectators that it was to be a certain score, but fate or some other unknown factor interfered. Several fumbles by the Hatchetites when they had an excellent chance to score kept the final figures low.

The Buff and Blue boys had the Engineers outclassed all the way and only for several costly mistakes would have piled up a score of several more touchdowns. One thing very gratifying was the punting that the team received from Loehler, the giant full-back. He outdid his rival on every kick, the superiority in yards being on an average of 15. This gave G. W. the edge in the entire game and especially in the first quarter.

Both teams showed plenty of fight and the game was a real thriller.

Kries and Nemley, former stars at Iowa and Princeton, will be ready for St. Joseph on Saturday. Both were out of the Drexel game on account of injuries received in the Western Maryland game.

GIRLS' SQUAD STARTS SWIM PRACTICE NOV. 3

New Director, in Physical Education to Coach Women at Y. W. C. A. Pool.

The girls' swimming team will start practice at the Y. W. C. A. pool Monday, November 3rd, under the direction of Mary Jackson, women's athletic coach. The Y. W. C. A. pool has been secured for one period each day except Friday in order that everyone interested in swimming may have an opportunity to get out for practice.

Practice periods, according to the present schedule are from 4 to 5 on Mondays and Tuesdays, 7 to 7:40 on Wednesdays, 3:20 to 4 on Thursdays, and 1 to 2 on Saturdays. The period Wednesday evening is the only evening period at present available because the pool has already been engaged for other evenings. However, an effort is being made to trade one of the afternoon periods for another evening period in order that students unable to attend practice in the afternoon may have an opportunity to practice in the evening.

Girls wishing to learn to swim or to practice at the Y. W. C. A. pool during the periods reserved for the University will be admitted upon presentation of their activities coupon book.

NEW ATHLETIC DIRECTOR TO COACH GIRLS' SPORTS

Sargent School Graduate Will Conduct Classes in Physical Education.

Miss Mary Jackson, graduate of the Sargent School of Physical Education of Boston, has been appointed Director in Physical Education for Women of George Washington University and has taken over active direction of women's athletic activities.

Miss Jackson has already started practice in women's field hockey and other athletics are being organized as rapidly as possible. As soon as the new gymnasium is completed Miss Jackson will organize classes in floor work and dancing.

Classes in physical education will be open to all women of the university, but none of the work will be compulsory.

According to present arrangements the women's swimming squad will start practice at the Y. W. C. A. pool on November 3rd. Girls interested in swimming should report to the director in physical education as soon as possible.

SWIMMING SQUAD CUT

Inexperienced swimmers are being dropped from the George Washington University swimming squad as rapidly as the limit of fifteen, set at the opening of the season, is reached. The first cut was made last Friday.

O'Brien, from the Brown University squad; Redfield, from the Naval Academy squad; and a number of scholastic swimming stars have been practicing regularly. These men, together with Newby, formerly on the Princeton squad, and other experienced swimmers who are expected to join the squad later, Coach Brunner expects to build up a strong team to represent the University in meets which start in January.

APPRECIATION.

George Washington's football team and coach wish to express through the Hatchet their gratitude to Mr. H. C. Byrd, director of athletics at Maryland State University, for allowing them to use the field at College Park for football workouts. We hope to be in a position to return the favor in a few years.

HATCHETITES TO PLAY ST. JOSEPH'S SATURDAY

Game With Philadelphians Promises To Be Sensation—Team in Fine Condition.

St. Joe's big Crimson machine will invade Washington Saturday, and will attempt to rouse the Buff and Blue at Central High School Stadium. St. Joseph's has one of the best teams in years, an aggregation that has fought together for five seasons, and is sure to give the Hatchetites a great battle.

Last year St. Joseph's College defeated George Washington 13 to 7 in a hard-fought battle at Philadelphia. This year the Crimson warriors opened their season against Delaware, losing in the last minute of play by a lone touchdown. On October 12th they defeated Drexel, 13 to 0, the same score which George Washington piled up against the Institute last Saturday.

However, the Hatchetite eleven has shown wonderful form this season, taking three of the four games already played. They have been practicing hard for the game November 1st with Johns Hopkins in Baltimore and will be in fine condition for the Philadelphia Saturday.

The game Saturday will start promptly at 2:30 p. m. This hour has been set in order that students having classes at 5:10 may attend the game and get back in time for their classes. A cheering section will be organized for the game Saturday with "Pep" Balter at his old stand.

FIELD HOCKEY PRACTICE BEING HELD REGULARLY

Teams to Be Organized For Practice As Soon As Squad Is Sufficiently Large.

Regular practice in girls' field hockey is being held on the Ellipse each Tuesday from 1 to 2 o'clock, and on each Friday from 1 to 3 o'clock. Miss Mary Jackson, new director of physical education for women, is coaching the team.

If sufficient number of candidates for the hockey squad come out for practice Miss Jackson wants to form two teams, one of Sophomores and Seniors and the other of Freshmen and Juniors, to play against each other in practice. Games with other institutions will probably be scheduled for the coming season, although such schedule is only tentative as yet.

Girls' field hockey is open to every girl in the University. Anyone interested should get in touch with the manager, Mary Florence Morscher, 119 Waverly Street, Clarendon, Va., or go out for practice with the team.

STUDENTS ORGANIZE DER DEUTCHER VEREIN

Der Deutcher Verein, a German club similar to the Spanish and French clubs already functioning in the University, was organized with a membership of twenty at a meeting held last Friday evening in the apartment of Mrs. Anne Rector at the Rutland Courts apartments.

Dr. Hermann Schoenfeld, Professor A. F. W. Schmidt and Paul E. Gropp, instructors in German, were elected honorary members of the club; Dr. Schoenfeld being elected honorary president.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Rector, president; Alvin G. McNish, vice-president; Gladys Isman, secretary, and Carl Edler, treasurer.

The German Club was organized to promote interest in the German language and culture, and to enable students studying German to become better acquainted.

After the election of officers and adoption of a constitution the members enjoyed a short social hour.

PHI DELTA EPSILON HOLDS FIRST SMOKER

Psi Chapter of Phi Delta Epsilon medical fraternity held its initial smoker and banquet of the school year on Saturday evening, October 11th, at the New Ebbitt Hotel. The faculty of the Medical School was represented by Dr. G. B. Jenkins, Dr. Tomas Cajigas, Dr. Nathan Smiler, Dr. W. B. King, Dr. Harry Lewis and Dr. H. B. Kotz.

Graduates from George Washington, Johns Hopkins and Maryland were present as were representatives of the Baltimore chapters. Many members and friends in the school also attended. Short, interesting talks were given by the members of the faculty and graduates.

MANAGERS ELECTED BY DEBATE TEAMS

Helen Newman to Manage Women's Debaters, Bettelheim Chosen For Men's Teams.

Meetings of last year's debating teams were held last week at which the managers for the men's and girls' debating teams for the coming season were elected. Helen Newman and Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., were elected the managers of their respective teams. Both had represented the University last year in varsity debates.

The Debating Council has decided to appoint three assistant managers for each team, from the members of the Junior, Sophomore and Freshman classes. At the end of the season, the manager for next year's team will be selected from the assistant managers who make good this year. All applications for the position of assistant manager of men's debates are requested to send their names, addresses, class and qualifications to Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., 319 Metropolitan Bank Building, while those applying for the position as assistant manager for the girls' team should send their names and qualifications to Helen Newman, care the Law School Library, 1435 K Street N. W. As mentioned above, only freshmen, sophomores and juniors may apply.

DR. LEWIS TO SPEAK.

President Lewis will spend Thursday and Friday in Bluefield, West Virginia, attending the annual meeting of the West Virginia State Education Association, where he is to give several addresses.

THE RECOGNIZED LEADER—IN SALES AND POPULARITY

LITTLE OPPOSITION IN LAW ELECTIONS

Seniors Cast Total Of 97 Votes
To Elect Unopposed Ticket
With Moran President

LADD DEFEATED BY MAW

Interest in First Year Class Centers in President and Senatorial Candidates.

The Senior and Freshmen Classes of the Law School are slowly recovering from the tremendous strain put upon them by the annual class elections. The showing made by these classes is probably the poorest in years, as competition for the various offices was practically nil in both cases. One thing may be said about the election in the Senior Class, and that is that the members may have felt that the candidates so filled the bill that competition would only have been foolish.

Only in the office of secretary was there any competition offered, and it was an even chance as to who would be elected. Hester Beall proved her claim to the office by polling 50 votes, while Florence Stonebreaker disputed her right with 47 votes in her favor.

The other officers elected were: A. H. Moran, an "A" student last year, president, 78 votes; F. L. Pearce pulled down 77 votes as vice-president; J. H. Litzelman was elected treasurer with 73 votes; and M. Ventura, as sergeant-at-arms, with 75 votes. Teresa Haley received 76 votes and takes her seat in the Law School Senate. There were 107 votes cast, of which 10 were declared void by the Law School Senate.

In the Freshman Class there was a little more competition, but not much. The office of president and the seats in the Law School Senate were the only ones sought by means of competition; the other class offices being uncontested. It is indeed sad to see such a lack of interest in student affairs among the Freshmen in Law School, for out of a class of approximately 300, only 95 votes were cast.

There were two seekers for the office of Freshman president, and of the two, Carlyle Maw was successful, having 53 votes to his credit. D. Milton Ladd, manager of the football team last year, ran him a close race by polling 41 votes. Harold Merrick, unopposed candidate for vice-president, received 88 votes; Gladys Barrow went into the office of secretary with 79 votes; John O. Woodall will collect the money as treasurer, being another unopposed candidate and also receiving 79 votes; while G. L. Woodruff, with 76 votes to his credit, will preserve order in the meetings as sergeant-at-arms.

There were five candidates for the three positions to be filled in the Senate, one being for a woman and two for men. To Dorothy Disney go the laurels as the Freshman Law Senator. Miss Disney received 60 votes, while her competitor, Margaret Stinson only received 27. Lyle W. Ohlander was the unsuccessful male candidate for the Senate, receiving only 34 votes. Clyde Tolson, brother of "Ban" Tolson, last year's track captain, was elected with 77 votes, as was Leroy Stover, who received 65 votes.

COLUMBIAN DEBATERS ARGUE FOR MACDONALD

Society Votes to Continue Its Support of Intercollegiate
Debating

"Resolved, That Great Britain Should Return Ramsay MacDonald to Power," was the theme for discussion at the weekly meeting of the Columbian Debating Society held last Friday evening in the Alumni rooms of the Law School.

The affirmative, supported by Meador Wright and Wroe Alderson, won the decision over Lewis Wallace and Jack Halan. Wroe Alderson was awarded first honors.

The following resolution was adopted by the society: "Resolved, that the Columbian Debating Society hereby reaffirms its established support of Inter-Collegiate Debating, and so signifies to the Debating Council."

Fred Wright, Henry W. Johnson, Nolan Tepper and J. T. Lewis were elected to membership in the society.

The meeting next Friday night will be devoted to a debate on the subject: "Resolved, That the several states should ratify the proposed twentieth amendment to the Constitution, known as the Child Labor Amendment."

LARGE NUMBER REPORT AT GLEE CLUB MEETING

Robert Harman to Direct Club Instead of Edgar Priest, as Announced.

The Men's Glee Club, with plenty of pep and enthusiasm, held its first meeting Thursday night at Corcoran Hall. With about thirty-five men present, and all showing hearty interest in what was going on, the meeting was a decided success.

President James Ewin started the evening with the singing of the University song. Professor Lapham, representative of the faculty, announced that Edgar Priest, who had previously been secured as director, was unable to meet with the club this year. However the services of Robert Harman have been secured. Professor Lapham told the men that the Faculty Committee on Student Activities is most anxious to cooperate with the society.

The next meeting was announced as Thursday evening, October 23rd, in Corcoran Hall at 8 o'clock. Director Harman will take charge and actual glee club work will commence.

Several concerts and trips in contemplation are being planned for the Glee Club for the coming season and there is still need for more men. Everyone interested should report to the director, Thursday night.

PLAYERS INITIATE AMES

Norman B. Ames, assistant professor of chemical engineering, was initiated as the third honorary member of the G. W. Players at their regular meeting held in the Chapel last Wednesday evening. Professors Bolwell and Croissant having been initiated at the previous meeting.

As a part of the business of the meeting the new constitution was signed and the executive announced the appointment of Richard Congden as publicity man for the Players, Phoebe Knappen was appointed drama calendar reporter, and Owen Potter appointed as press agent. General tryouts were given and a cast selected for a one-act play to be given soon. The first rehearsals were held Friday evening.

LAW BODY HOLDS SMOKER.

Several faculty members and a large number of students of the Law School were guests at a smoker given last Monday evening by the Delta Theta Phi law fraternity at the Franklin Square Hotel. Professor Moll, a new instructor in the Law School; Professor Arnold and Dr. Evans were among the list of speakers. A. H. Moran, president of the Senior Law Class, and other students in the Law School also spoke briefly of the bearing of scholarship upon the standing of professional fraternities.

PRESIDENT DEPLORES DOLLAR EDUCATION

Says Higher Education Not to Make a Living But to Make a Life.

STATISTICS OFTEN WEAK

Also Adds That Education Is Not Always Necessary to Make a Living.

That the value of college education cannot be measured in terms of the dollar was asserted by President Lewis at the assembly yesterday in discussing a statement that a college diploma is worth $72,000. President Lewis stated that the purpose of higher education is not to enable one to make a living but to make a life.

"Yesterday in the morning papers," said the President, "there occurred an article to the effect that a college education is worth $72,000. This statement was based on a study of the effects of education on work."

"That would be beautiful if it were true. But I want to impress on you this morning that in the first place you should never accept statistics without careful and very calm weighing of those statistics. There was a story current in Washington at one time to the effect that an agricultural expert once told the waiting world how many hundreds of tons of wheat were destroyed by rats every twenty-four hours. When asked how he had reached this conclusion he replied that they took a rat and put it in a cage with a certain amount of wheat. In this way they ascertained how much wheat it could eat, and multiplied this amount by the total number of rats in the United States!"

"These figures are somewhat along that line. It is probably true, as the late Secretary Lane told us, that the man who can read and write is worth fifty cents more a day to industry than the illiterate man. But as you go up the scale of education the definite financial rewards become less and less obvious. Now the man who made this statement took a certain group of people and averaged them up, but he had no way of proving that these same people would not have made as much money had they not been college graduates. He has not explained Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Ford, two gentlemen of means who represent a certain group in the United States, and who are not college graduates. He has made no point of the fact that as you go into high school and college, beyond the education required by the state, you find the more ambitious group, and because of this ambition and mental power they might be money-makers whether or not they went to high school and college."

"You say, 'but look at the multi-millionaires of the United States who are college graduates.' The answer to that is that the man at the head of a great business today usually is not the organizer of that business, but the son or grandson of the organizer, put into the position by the force of circumstances."

"Then there is distinct proof that a great many men and women would have made more money had they gone to college, because many a young man through going to college, has been touched by the fire and idealism of college which has decided him to devote his life to service. Over against Ford and Rockefeller I would put many men teaching in college class rooms at starvation wages who could have been wealthy men had they so desired."

"The thing I want to emphasize to you is that you are mistaken if you think that when you take your college diploma and go out into the world it will mean that you can begin high up in business and command a higher salary than if you had not been to college. To be sure, your advance should be more rapid, but do not think for a minute that you can measure your college course by the number of dollars you get, or on the basis of your first job. The person who enters college with the idea of making his life yield $72,000 should not be in college. The idealism and education which you are getting are going to enable you not to make a living, but to make a life. That is the purpose of college. The great men of the world today are not necessarily the wealthy men, much good as they have done. They are the men working for small wages in the laboratories, the nurses in the mountains of Tennessee, the authors, the statesmen—the leaders of our people. College education teaches you leadership, and therefore I ask you to take from your consideration this dollar sign that has been hung up, and put in its place the thought that what college means to you is to show you the place you are going to take in the society in which you live."

G. W. DEBATERS READY FOR CAMBRIDGE TEAM

Audience To Decide by Ballot Outcome of Contest With England's Representatives.

As the Hatchet goes to press for this issue it is too early to give the results of the debate between George Washington University and the team representing Cambridge University of England. The George Washington debaters have been working hard for weeks and feel confident they have prepared an argument as convincing as anything the visitors can advance.

The subject chosen for the debate is: "Resolved, That modern democracy is inconsistent with personal liberty," will be upheld by the visitors with the local team taking an adverse stand. It is a subject which permits of much speculation on either side. The home debaters, James O. Cade, Joseph Levinson and Oscar A. Zabel, have studied the question from all possible angles.

It will be recalled that last year the Hatchet debaters defeated a team from Oxford University. This year, however, England has returned to America with a much stronger team and has selected a subject more in line with their method of debating than the American style. The local team have been coached by Philip E. Barnard, a member of the team which defeated Oxford last year, who is himself familiar, through his travels abroad, with English debating customs.

The debate is being managed under the direction of the Debating Council, of which Professor Gilbert L. Hall, a member of the Faculty Committee, is chairman. Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of the University, will preside at the debate and a vote of the audience will be taken to determine the outcome. Hon. Henry Getty Chilton, Charge d'Affaires of the British Embassy; Dean William C. Van Vleck of the George Washington Law School, and Captain F. L. Tottenham, British Naval Attache, have been appointed as tellers to take the vote.

The team which England is sending against the American debaters is one of the strongest it is possible to obtain. Richard Austin Butler, who heads the British delegation, is a son of the Rt. Hon. Montague Butler, is President of the Union Society, famous Cambridge debating society, and is vice-president of the National Union of Students. A. P. Marshall is President of the Liberal Union, an organization embracing all the Liberal Clubs of the British Universities. Gerald Sparrows is considered the best debater at Cambridge. He is a conservative, is secretary of the Conservative Union, President of the Cambridge Law Society and of the Trinity Hall Law Society.

NEW OFFICE CREATED AT ENGINEERING SMOKER

The Engineering Society held its first smoker of the year at the Sigma Chi fraternity house Wednesday night, October 15th, with 150 in attendance. Dean Miller, James H. Platt, Norman B. Ames, and Thomas B. Brown were among the members of the faculty present. Each made brief speeches.

Robert Blatt's orchestra entertained with musical selections. A special business meeting of the club was called and a new office was created, that of Chemical Engineering Vice-President. This office, together with that of Electrical Engineering Vice-President, which has recently been vacated, will be filled by election at the next meeting of the society.

REGISTRATION PASSES ALL FORMER RECORDS

Law and Pharmacy Almost at Last Year's Record—Others
All Gain.

Registration figures continue to grow, and have now reached 4,610 for all departments of the University. This is the largest number of students ever carried at one time on University rosters, and represents a gain of 348 over records for the same date last year. Students numbering 337 have enrolled since October 7th, when the last figures were quoted in the Hatchet. This will probably be the last substantial increase, as all courses have become so far advanced that registration will only be permitted in exceptional cases.

There are now 2,209 enrolled in Columbian College, which is an increase of 176 over last year. The School of Graduate Studies has registered 280, as against 251 a year ago. Enrollments in Teachers' College have reached 452, and Engineering students now number 507, showing gains in the two schools of 73 and 63, respectively.

Hundreds of applicants have been turned away from the Medical School, which has facilities for only 254 students. It accommodated 236 at the last fall term.

Law and Pharmacy are the only schools not showing actual growth, and they have not lost noticeably. Law School enrollments have reached 883, which are but 8 short of last year. There are 25 students now entered in the School of Pharmacy, as compared with 28 a year ago.
